

I have lived in this area for over six years now and before I subscribed to XM radio I had no music or talk radio available to me in my home. I live in a remote enough area that I only receive am stations when the wind is blowing just right and then only when traveling in a vehicle. If you think this is a trivial letter try living without your radio in your home and car. Just don't turn it on for a week. See how your temperament shapes up after that. Music has been a part of human kind for some time and I believe it is essential to our happiness and well being. If you don't believe this try living without it for a week, go ahead I dare you!
